Sinuous and colourful bottles with 1950's pin-up girls for the relaunch of Abbondio soda: a commemoration of a "glamorous" époque. Invented by the Englishman Hiram Codd in 1872, the "bottle with the marble" (Codd - The glass stopper bottle) was all the rage worldwide until fifty years ago. Abbondio reinterpreted this classic for the relaunch of its product. Thanks to its hermetic closure the drinks seem to maintain their freshness longer.
