ABBONDIO CODD EDITION

Properties list:

update soft drinks opening and closure systems bottle glass and ceramics historical, traditional transparent identity by shape illustrated character

Sinuous and colourful bottles with 1950's pin-up girls for the relaunch of Abbondio soda: a commemoration of a "glamorous" époque. Invented by the Englishman Hiram Codd in 1 872, the "bottle with the marble" (Codd - The glass stopper bottle) was all the rage worldwide until fifty years ago. Abbondio reinterpreted this classic for the relaunch of its product. Thanks to its hermetic closure the drinks seem to maintain their freshness longer.

Reference: http://www.abbondio.it

Credits:

Country: Italy Year: 2006 User: Abbondio

Designer: Hiram Codd

Other images:

This document was created by www.packagingdesignarchive.org Original web page: http://www.packagingdesignarchive.org/archive/pack_details/1628